Shifts in West Asia
Iran's assertion of its regional dominance creates a loosening of the power of the Saudi and Arab states, leading to a dismantling of American and Western hegemony, and laying the ground for a new West Asia. page 13

Taxation of Gig Workers
Rather than being administratively neutral, the tax policy must account for income volatility, the absence of social security protections, and the asymmetrical bargaining power inherent in platform-based work. page 26

Mechanisation and Labour Use
A longitudinal study in the semi-arid region of Maharashtra finds that labour use is not decreasing much despite intensified mechanisation, but female labour could be displaced due to mechanisation, with the increased use of non-unionised and casual workers. page 51

Primacy of Rights
Concerning fundamental rights into a goal program for performance of duties is not only imprudent but also unconstitutional for being violative of the doctrine of basic structure. page 61

Assam-Arunachal Border Dispute
The issue today has not merely acknowledged Arunachal as tribal perspectives, but is reconciling conflicting claims and perspectives within a federal structure framework. page 71
